Credit for Prior Learning/Life Experience is based on evidence presented by the requested student and is granted neither automatically nor capriciously. In the case of a request for credit for a specific Peru State College course, the student must show significant evidence that the academic learning objectives for that course have been sufficiently mastered. In the case of a request for credit for mastery of technical subjects for which the college does not offer an equivalent course, the student must demonstrate mastery of the subject(s) through presentation of appropriate supporting materials (e.g. professional training certificates and supporting information regarding program curricula). Except for cases where professional programs have already been evaluated for the amount of life experience credit to be granted (e.g., the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center programs), all decisions will be primarily based on evidence presented in the portfolio developed by the student upon completion of College 201 Prior Learning/Life Experience Portfolio Development. In the event general, non-course specific credit is granted, the credit will appear on the student's transcript as "Credit for Prior Learning/Life Experience." The decision regarding credit granted for Prior Learning/Life Experience is the responsibility of the Dean of the School in which the subject area/academic discipline resides. The academic Dean may, at his/her discretion, involve faculty members or others in making the final determination regarding credit to be awarded. The Dean's decision is final and is not subject to appeal. Students should review the Peru State College Catalog for specific limitations on the granting and award of prior learning credit.

NOTE: "Teacher education candidates may not apply Prior Learning Life Experience credit toward the courses that represent content knowledge for teacher education programs."
